

Legie Tweets!

Now you can follow Legie @Legie2 on twitter! There is even a link on the school's website. Legie makes a point to tweet at least twice a week and notice the incredible work happening in the school. The hope is that family members receiving Legie's tweets will have pictures or information about what is happening at school to help encourage conversations about learning at home. This week Legie tweeted about art class and some great fieldtrips Legends enjoyed!

Cross-Country Skiing

This year's cross-country ski lessons have begun both during and after school! Pk-2 have three lessons at Rikert Nordic Center and 3-6 will have a whole day where they can choose cross-country or downhill lessons. Hannah Sessions is teaching skiing at Leicester Alive! too. A new first grader, Autumn, moved to Vermont from Louisiana. Here is what she had to say about her first ski lesson:

It was good. They taught me how to ski and the bug thing. When you fall you put your feet in the air [like a dead bug] and then put your feet on the side. I helped people get up. I skied fast. There was a place where some tracks were not made, but I still went. When I got to a curve I fell. In Louisiana there is not this much cold. You don't wear snow pants or heavy stuff. This is my first snow!

Library Link

Have you checked out the link to LCS's very own Library website? Be sure to get the Library Lowdown! You will learn about new book arrivals, what students are working on, and information about Red Clover and DCF books. Please visit it today!

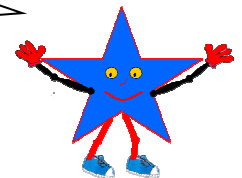

LCS at the Paramount

Yesterday the entire school attended Doktor Kaboom! at the Paramount theater in Rutland. We watched neat experiments and our very own Legend, Steven, was a volunteer on stage, which you can see video of on the school's website. It was, however, the PK's first trip to the Paramount. Here is what they liked:
I like when the bottle went flying! Sam
I liked how the cover wouldn't stay on the bottle and flyed off! Brayden
When the cover flies off! Ethan
I liked the balloon part and how it [shows a little wiggle dance with body and hands]! Idaylia
I liked the video he showed! Thomic

5/6 raised $240.50
for their trip to Boston
with their bottle
drive last weekend!
Great work!
